Meet the Team

Camden Richter

Camden is a visionary web developer, designer, and above-all computer geek dedicated to sculpting captivating digital landscapes. With a desire to supply the online realm with comprehensive website design, creation, and management services, he decided to form NetForge.

Camden approaches each project with an artist's eye and a coder's precision, seamlessly blending aesthetics with functionality to create immersive digital experiences that captivate and engage audiences. Through Camden's work at NetForge, clients are empowered to unleash the full potential of their online presence, driving growth, and fostering lasting relationships with their audience.

Outside of the digital realm, Camden is an avid learner and artist, always seeking inspiration from the world around. Whether it's embarking on outdoor adventures, immersing in linguistics, or taking photos, Camden's multifaceted interests enrich both personal and professional endeavors.
